a network of researchers studying migratory landbird species

Wanted: Website manager

- Are you interested in designing websites?
- Do you have experience with Joomla?
- Would you like to help the MLSG improve a critical communication tool?

Then we would love to hear from you! We are currently looking for somebody that can help us improve, maintain and expand the website based on the needs of its users. In the near future, we are seeking:

- A customised, linked membership and project database
- Improved member and registration payment database functionality
- Easier creating and uploading of profiles by members
- Customised visibility of restricted access pages for members and non-members

- Any layout improvements you think really should be done (we have a few ideas too)

Sparked your interest? Want more information? Please get in touch with us at info@migrantlandbirds.org. Let us know what your experience level is, what you'd like to do and what you expect us to offer in return.

We look forward to hearing from you!
